

Black and White Like You & Me: A Book talk and signing

Join University of Detroit alumni Tom Daniels and Thomas "Cookie" Marsh as they discuss their new book, Black and White Like You & Me: Parallel Lines Sometimes Intersect, followed by a book signing. It is the story of growing up in Detroit in the 1950s and 1960s on different sides of the racial divide and becoming best friends later in life.

Co-sponsored by the Black Abolitionist Archive and Phi Alpha Theta.

Free and open to the public. Refreshments will be provided.

When: Noon, Friday, Oct. 13, 2017

Where: President's Dining Room, Student Center, McNichols Campus